He was not in favor, Dr. Mezes said, of a regular college installation, and was inclined to think that only achievements of the college, rather than changes in its personnel, ought to be celebrated. The final decision will come from the trustees.

Speaking of his plans and hopes, Dr. dezes said:

"One of the older members of the Vanderbilt family—no, not Reggie—felt that rule one night. He had placed a limit of $1,000 on his losses. When that limit was reached he begged for more, but he did not get it. Nor could he get more chips on his check. Eastern Railroad Men to Meet Here to Prepare New Schedules.

Representatives of the railroads in official classification territory, which were granted an increase in freight were granted an increase in freight rates by the interstate Commerce Commission on Frilay, will meet here early this week to prepare for the immediate filing of the higher tariffs. To the extent of the advances allowed the carriers will put into effect the higher rates on not less than ten days' notice. The work of filing the new rate schedules will be in charge of the com-

"The decision, however, grants an "The decision, however, grants an acrease on only about 50 per cent of the freight business of our system, and is not so farreaching as the railroads believe to be necessary; therefore, the railroads, as the commission emphasizes, must continue their efforts to conserve and augment their revenues from the sources the commission previously recommended.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

It was not believed vesterday that any application will be made by the railroads in the Southern group for higher rates in the near future as a consequence of the decision favoring those lines in official classification territory. It is felt that such a move at this time would be futile, because of the Interstate Commerce Commission's view that a temporary condition to reduce the European war does not in itself constitute justification for higher rates.

President Rea's Views.

Philadelphia, Dec. 19—President Rea of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in a statement to-day said that he regarded the railroad rate decision handed down by the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday as the beginning of a broad, constructive policy in railroad regulation. The statement says:

New York Tribune Photographic History

EACH PART COMPLETE IN ITSELF.

HOW IT IS BEING COMPILED

Dr. Francis Trevelyan Miller is the editor-in-chief of this remarkable work. Under him is a corps of trained historians who detail every single move of the terrific struggle with the pens of men renowned for their graphic style, their accuracy and fidelity, their impartial utterances. The writings of these famous men are embellished by thousands of photographs taken by over 200 Special Photographers in all parts of Europe where the big battles are raging.

THE VALUE OF THIS WORK

Nothing the equal in beauty and authenticity of this wonderful History will ever be attempted—certainly nothing at such insignificant cost. The separate Parts—uniformly printed on heavy paper in beautiful Sepia Photogravure—when bound together, will comprise a set of War Books in which you will take a lasting pride.

THEY WILL BE COMPLETE

Not a single feature—no matter how trivial—will be omitted from this complete record of the World's War. Therefore, you will have a set of books that could not be more perfect, more complete-unless, of course, you neglect too long procuring the Parts already published.

GET THE MISSING PARTS TODAY

While each Part is complete in itself, you naturally want the whole story—every picture. You can get the first few Parts if you act quickly. A supply is on sale at the TRIBUNE office. Each Part will cost you but 10c.—postpaid, if desired. You will find them educational, thrilling, gripping.

QUICK ACTION NECESSARY

We don't want you to be disappointed over missing even one Part. Get them to-day, read them to-night. You'll then look forward eagerly to the appearance of each succeeding Part. Remember, the first Part, in addition to the wealth of detail it contains, also includes President Wilson's remarkable declaration of neutrality.
